The Process of Healing
from a Yoga Therapy Perspective with Marcel Allbritton, PhD

Sponsored by Vanderbilt University School of Medicine
Osher Center for Integrative Medicine at Vanderbilt

15.5 CMEs available for AMA and APA
August 28-30, 2015

Would you like to learn how to apply healing principles and techniques in your work or in your healing?

Using a holistic understanding of healing on multiple dimensions—such as breath, body, and emotions—we will look at how to

- evaluate effectiveness of healing,
- assess clients or patients based on a continuum of healing
- learn tools to more effectively support the process of healing

Course content and clinical case studies will be used to explain how healing relates: (1) directly to symptoms, (2) to practitioner support for symptom management, and (3) to self-management of symptoms by the patient.

Who:
All Levels Welcome, including those who want to better understand the process of healing in their personal life.

Practitioners and Integrative Health professionals who seek further understanding of how the process of healing can inform their professional work and work with clients/patients. Workshop content is specifically designed to be applied in the work of Integrative Health Professionals.

When:
Friday, August 28th, 6:00-9:00 PM
Saturday & Sunday, August 29th-30th, 9:00 AM-5:30 PM (break 12:00-1:30 PM)
